Client Testimonial

“I came to Energise knowing that I was looking for a change to my career but not understanding what change I wanted, nor how to get there. From the outset, I was put at ease and was then invited to embark on a process which would change not just my career, but also my entire approach to my career and life in general. The process with Energise has not just been revelatory in that sense but has also been really interesting and highly enjoyable. I’ve enjoyed going back to basics in terms of challenging my assumptions and thought processes but equally I’ve just found each session incredibly engaging. I would wholeheartedly recommend Energise to anyone who is at a similar point in their career, or even if they’re just mulling over some of these questions. The clarity and purpose I have now is a long way from the place I was in when the process started.”
